K-12 Online Curriculum Training

Ready to get started? This training will introduce you to the K-12 Digital Literacy and Citizenship Curriculum, scope and sequence, and walk you through sample lesson plans. You'll also learn about research and background on your students' digital lives. Each training takes one hour to complete. To take the training:

1. Watch the video below for your grade level.
2. At the end of the video, you'll receive a link to a survey.
3. Take the survey.
4. At the end of the survey, you'll receive a link to a certificate you can use to document professional development hours. In order to access the certificate, you will need to have registered and be logged into Common Sense Education's site. When you register, be sure to click the "I'm an Educator" box. Registration is free. You can register here.

* Note: Some components of this video are outdated due to our new Scope & Sequence for the curriculum. We will be offering a temporary video for K-12 in August 2015, and we will be offering an entirely new training in October 2015. Thanks for your patience!

(Upon request, we provide schools/districts a list of participants who completed the training. We do not share survey results with schools/districts. For more information, see our privacy policy. Please contact schools@commonsense.org if you have questions.)
