Glossary of Terms

The Continuum provides a common language of standards-based practice in a community of learners.

Structure

Continuum: a document describing different levels of practice or knowledge along various stages of development.

Descriptor: an individual cell, or “box,” corresponds to the developmental levels in the Continuum of Teaching Practice.

Standard: one of six areas of teaching practice that comprise the CA Standards for the Teaching Profession (CSTP).

Element: a sub-area or sub-domain of teaching practice within any of the six CSTP standards.

Level: Each level describes teaching in terms of pedagogy, instructional practices, content knowledge, learning environment, collaboration and leadership.

Concepts

Diversity: refers to culture, ethnicity, language, race, religion, gender, sexual orientation, socioeconomic background, learning abilities, and learning styles.

Equity: means ensuring learning for all students.

Pre-Assessment: Used to describe assessments that are part of ongoing instruction, as each significant new instructional concept is introduced. Pre-assessments inform teachers of a wide range of students’ knowledge and abilities in order to guide instruction.

Entry level assessment: Generally used to describe an initial assessment of competencies when a student first begins a class or course of study.

Context: Real life contexts include students’ unique family and community settings as a “mirror” reflecting the familiar world; and the broader societal, cultural and global settings as a “window” looking into the larger world (E. Style, 1996).

Culturally Responsive Teaching: Geneva Gay (2000) defines culturally responsive teaching as using the cultural knowledge, prior experiences, and performance styles of diverse students to make learning more appropriate and effective for them; it teaches to and through the strengths of these students.

Academic Language: Academic language is the language (oral and written) needed by students to understand and communicate in the academic disciplines. Academic language includes such things as specialized vocabulary, conventional text structures within a field (e.g., whole sentences, narratives, essays, lab reports) and other language-related activities typical of classrooms, (e.g., participating in a discussion, presenting an argument, comparing and contrasting, asking for clarification). (revised from PACT, 2010).

2.7 Using instructional time to optimize learning Evidence: R	Paces instruction based on curriculum guidelines. Develops awareness of how transitions and classroom management impact pacing and lessons.	Paces instruction with some consideration of lesson type, adjustments for sufficient student work time and transitions to optimize learning.	Paces instruction with students to provide adequate time for instruction, checking for understanding, completion of learning activities and closure.	Paces instruction to include ongoing assessment of student learning. Supports students in the monitoring of instructional time.	Paces, adjusts, and fluidly facilitates instruction and daily activities.
Evidence: 4/8/22: R O LP Evidence 4/14/23: R LP O PE	Some students complete learning activities in time allotted.	Students complete learning activities and, as needed, may receive some adjustments of time allotted for tasks or expectations for completion.	Students participate in and complete a variety of learning activities in the time allotted with options for extension and review.	Students use their instructional time to engage in and complete learning activities and are prepared for the next sequence of instruction.	Students monitor their own time, are engaged in accomplishing learning goals, and participate in reflection, self-assessment, and goal setting.
